WELCOME!

It's all go in this week's issue – I can hardly keep up! We've got three huge soap goodbyes to talk about. Firstly, there are the EastEnders departures of Ronnie and Roxy, as played by the talented Sam Womack and Rita Simons. We've been through so much with the sassy sisters that they seem part of the Square furniture, so Walford without them will be weird. And with the stories Ronnie has had over the years, I'm sure there's a killer exit in store for her – possibly literally! We detail our theories on their fates on p10.

Meanwhile, I'm still reeling from Andy Sugden's departure from Emmerdale after 20 years. Star Kelvin Fletcher certainly went out on a high, and his final scenes were some of his best ever. But he hasn't closed the door on the Dales, as he says over on p11, and I'd be happy to catch up with Andy in a few years' time and see how being away from the village dramas has changed him...

LAUREL GOES INTO LABOUR!

When his other half's waters break, can Ashley hold it together to act as midwife?

There's a terrifying time in store for Laurel and Ashley this week, as the pair's unborn baby decides to put in a very sudden appearance!

Pregnant Laurel is working a shift at the factory when she starts getting twinges – and, immediately assuming that her labour has started, she races to hospital with her flapping boss Rishi. The doctors send her away, however, insisting that she's experiencing a false alarm – but it rapidly becomes clear this isn't the case!

So Laurel is back at home and about to step into a relaxing bubble bath when her waters break and the baby is on its way – with nobody but Ashley on hand to help her...

"They're thrown into chaos," sighs John Middleton, who plays Ashley. "Ashley is upstairs running the bath and shouting down to ask which bubble bath Laurel would like – blissfully unaware that while he's been babbling on, Laurel's waters have broken and

Pregnant Laurel has been determined to carry on as normal

“LAUREL AND ASHLEY JUST WANT TO LIVE IN THE MOMENT”

she's already in labour! His initial reaction is total panic – Ashley thinks, 'I can't find my way round a hospital, let alone help with this'.

“But the fact is, it's happening now, there's no time to call an ambulance, and it's all going to be over before the midwife gets there. So it's just Ashley and Laurel – and he really doesn't know what to do.”

Prior to all hell breaking loose, Laurel and Ashley enjoy a romantic couple of days. Laurel is delighted when her husband organises a surprise picnic, and the happy pair put their troubles behind them to reminisce about the good times.

“It's absolutely idyllic,” beams John. “They have a lovely time. There's delicious food, and a couple from the church show up to sing songs by The Undertones – incredibly badly, but it's still a lot of fun! Laurel and Ashley talk about what might be in store for them because of Ashley's condition, and Laurel insists that they have to start thinking about what's happening now, because they just don't know what's ahead. It's a contemplative and joyous conversation.

“They're currently coping fine with Ashley's illness, and he's stable,” continues the actor. “So they just want to live in the moment.”

It turns out that Laurel and Ashley do need to live in the moment once Laurel's contractions begin! Ashley is called upon to play midwife and look after Laurel and their child – which would be a big enough challenge for a husband without dementia.

» FROM PREVIOUS PAGE

Ironically, it all happens not long after Laurel insists that Ashley doesn't even need to be present at the birth.

"He's actually a bit shocked when Laurel says that," shares John. "Ashley says, 'I hope you're joking!'. Of course he wants to be there, and be as supportive as he can as a father and a husband. So he's absolutely adamant that he's not going to miss it."

As it turns out, Ashley has very little choice in the matter – and his real-life alter ego admits that these dramatic scenes were as emotional for him to film as if Laurel's labour were the real deal...

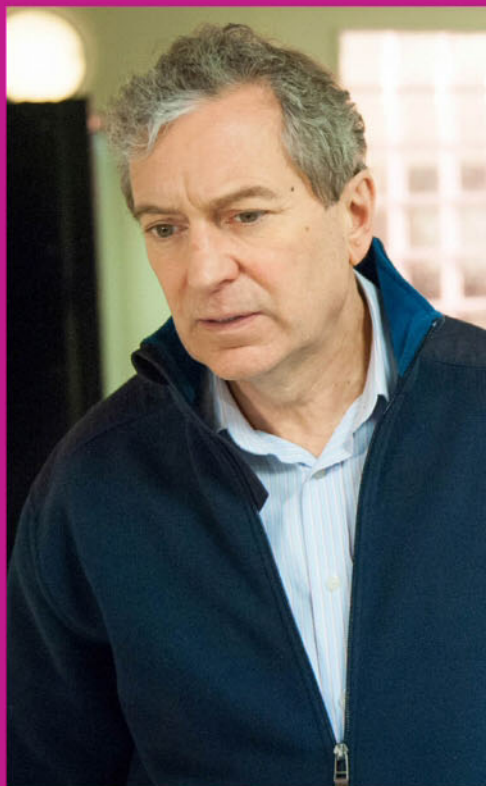

"There wasn't much acting required – Charlotte [Bellamy, who plays Laurel] and I both got instantly emotional," John tells us. "Everything feels so real at those moments that you almost stop acting. You live and breathe every second!"

With the panic and urgency of the situation enough to send anyone over the edge, can beleaguered Ashley help Laurel bring their new son or daughter into the world?

"IT'S THE END OF ASHLEY'S LIFE – BUT I'M STILL ENJOYING IT!"

ACTOR JOHN REFLECTS ON HIS CHARACTER'S DIFFICULT JOURNEY UP TO THIS POINT...

While we wait to discover if Ashley can cope with helping to deliver his own baby, it's now been almost a year since the former vicar was diagnosed with early-onset vascular dementia.

And despite the fact that the emotional plot demands an inevitable conclusion to Ashley's story – as well as to John's time in Emmerdale – the actor insists that it's been a positive process, and promises plenty of drama to come...

"That's the funny thing about it," admits John. "It's the end of Ashley's life, which will always have that sting in the tail, but I'm having fun! I'm still really enjoying the storyline and looking forward to some of the things we have coming up. Our producer, Iain MacLeod, has told me there are plenty of twists and turns in store, and I know the details leading up to Ashley's death.

"I'm not going to reveal any of them, of course, but I do know more or less when it's all going to happen, so my days are tinged with excitement and a huge sadness," adds the star. "I can't imagine what it's going to be like when I'm not in Emmerdale any more. I'm really going to miss it all."

MARIA

ATTACKED!

Caz uses the drama to worm her way back into her life...

CORONATION STREET | ITV Bank Holiday Mon

Maria suffers a terrifying incident this week, when she interrupts a burglar in her home – and its Caz who comes to her aid.

Homeless and desperate, Caz is looking for any chance to get back into Maria's good books, so it's fortuitous that she's on hand after the traumatic ordeal. Poor Maria is rattled by what's happened, and asks Caz to stay the night because she's feeling vulnerable – but cunning Caz is convinced that she can secure a permanent invitation to move back in with Maria and her son Liam...

"In some twisted way, Caz feels like the hero," explains Rhea Bailey, who plays the former soldier. "She happens to be around on the Street when Maria is burgled, and she's grateful that she can be there to mop up and offer a shoulder to cry on. Caz never wanted something like this to happen, but she's secretly happy she can be there to help her friend."

The day of the burglary, Caz has her own horrible incident to deal with. She's sleeping rough in the Red Rec when she has her rucksack stolen by kids – and gone with her dignity are half of Caz's possessions.

"She's devastated – her life has been reduced to those two bags, and Caz doesn't have much self-esteem at this point," shares Rhea. "Realising one of her bags has been taken makes her so angry that her life has turned out like this. That's when she starts to formulate a plan to get back on the Street. Caz's only hope is Maria, since she knows no one else likes her!"

Clearly, Maria is in Caz's debt following the robbery. She falls and cracks her head as the thief pushes past her, and Caz is the one who tends to her and rings the police. And although Maria offers for Caz to stay just one night, some chilling phone calls change things.

"Caz makes the anonymous calls because she knows that if Maria is scared, she'll want Caz to stay!" Rhea tells us. "I don't think she feels guilty – she's in survival mode."

We know Caz was madly in love with ex-fiancée Kate, but is now focused on Maria. Is it just friendship she's after?

"It starts off as friendship and a need to be part of something," teases Rhea. "But she'll develop feelings for Maria – and behave in a way people won't expect..."

KATE WHITE

The bombshell that Maria slept with Aidan remains a closely guarded secret for now. But both parties fear that the truth will come out – especially Aidan, who's lying to girlfriend Eva. So it's going to be a nightmare when Caz discovers the explosive information.

"Caz already has an inkling about Aidan and Maria," reveals Rhea. "She feels like she walked in on a moment between them, though she's not sure. When she asks Maria, Maria denies it and Caz wants to believe her – but then she starts to think something isn't right. Maybe Caz will put the frighteners on Maria if she thinks she can use it to her advantage..."

RONNIE & ROXY'S EXPLOSIVE EXIT!

There's huge drama ahead as the two blonde bombshells blast out of Albert Square...

Ronnie is engaged to ex-hubby Jack – for how long?

SNEAK PREVIEW!

The Mitchell sisters are set to bow out of Albert Square in dramatic fashion, following the news that stars Samantha Womack and Rita Simons are quitting EastEnders. Bosses are planning a huge departure for the girls, who have given us nearly 10 years of tears, trauma and tragedy playing Phil's cousins...

"Sam and Rita have created one of the most iconic double acts that Walford has ever seen," says a spokesperson for the show. "But when they sat down with bosses to work out where to take Ronnie and Roxy next, they all felt that it was the right time to rest them."

Initially, show chiefs confirmed that Ronnie would be leaving the Square after bosses pitched a dramatic exit plot to Samantha, which she happily accepted. However, it later emerged that a double departure was on the cards.

"Alongside Samantha, Rita was offered the chance to take part in the same big storyline that will see both the Mitchell sisters leave Walford," explains the spokesperson. "When EastEnders' new executive producer, Sean O'Connor, proposed the idea to them, they jumped at the opportunity. Rita said that the sisters should go out the same way that they arrived – together.

"Bosses wanted to keep their departures a secret, but once the details about Samantha leaked, it was only a matter of time before people worked out Rita was going, too," continues the spokesperson. "However, there are still plenty of twists and turns for their characters."

The announcement is sure to come as a huge blow to fans who have followed Ronnie and Roxy since their arrival in 2007. Amid all the drama, Roxy's doomed marriage to bad boy

Could Sean come back for his ex-wife?

Sean Slater, and her affair with her sister's fella Jack, resulted in one of the Square's biggest 'Who's the daddy?' plots. Meanwhile, Ronnie emerged as one of Walford's most tragic heroines. Her long-lost daughter Danielle Jones was tragically run over, and she also lost her baby son James to cot death.

But what fresh hell is set to take Ronnie and Roxy out of the Square? Find out next year, when the Mitchell sisters leave with a bang...

HOW WILL

Here are just a few possible exit scenarios for the Mitchell sisters...

TRUE LOVE!

Ronnie and Roxy's doomed respective romances with Charlie Cotton and Aleks The Market Inspector didn't work out – but perhaps the fellas might return to sweep them both off their feet? Whatever happens, it would be nice to see fate give the girls the happy ending they richly deserve.

THE GIRLS GO?

KILLER SHOCKS!

Not so fast there, Cupid! Ronnie currently remains unpunished for the scrapyard murders of Carl White and poor old Fatboy. Will her crimes come back to haunt her if one of her victims turns out to not be dead? Or perhaps the law will catch up with Ronnie, leaving Roxy to be hounded out of Walford, too ashamed to look back.

HASTA IBIZA, BABY!

Walford is the place they call home – but Ronnie and Roxy have never been happier than when they were tearing up the Ibiza club scene together. So maybe they'll dust off their infamous cowgirl hats and go back to show Spain's party capital what it's been missing...

LATEST NEWS | Emmerdale

The Dales' Kelvin Fletcher speaks out about that shock exit, and reveals if he's likely to return...

“I still have more to give with Andy!”

Following weeks of speculation surrounding Andy Sugden's future in Emmerdale, his fate was sealed when he fled the village after Chrissie stitched him up like a kipper for Lawrence's shooting! Andy's emotional departure marks the end of Kelvin Fletcher's two decades on the show – and here he tells us why it was so top secret...

“Secrecy was paramount as we wanted Andy's exit to be a surprise,” explains the actor. “I felt as though I was betraying some of my closest work colleagues by not telling them, and I think they were quite shocked when they heard the news. It has been very hard!”

But after everything he's been through, is this really the last we've seen of Andy?

Andy is out of the dock – and Kelvin is out of the Dales!

“I still feel like I could give more to the part of Andy, and I always will,” says Kelvin. “If there is a time in the future where Andy reappears to prove his innocence, who knows?”

Meanwhile, actress Louise Marwood – who plays scorned woman Chrissie – has reportedly signed a new contract that will keep her in the village for at least another 12 months.

“Andy's exit was the real start of Chrissie being the super-bitch that they have planned,” teases Kelvin. “Framing him for a crime that he didn't commit has set the bar quite high for her future!”

EMMERDALE | ITV Wednesday

ROBERT & BERNICE STRIKE BACK!

The pair join forces against the Whites to save Andy – but can either get a confession?

Guilty Lachlan is under pressure this week, as Robert turns the screws to try to get a confession out of him over Lawrence's shooting.

Having drawn the violent teen into a web of lies by sending him texts purportedly from his father, Donny, wily Robert believes that he's close to getting Lachlan to tell the truth. However, it's not just Robert who is determined to prove Andy is an innocent man – Andy's former flame Bernice is also on the case. Bernice is typically keen to go at Lachlan and lying mum Chrissie with everything they've got straight away – but Robert reckons they need to be patient to trap their prey...

"We know Robert is a master manipulator, and he's certain he can get the better of Lachlan with his mind games," says our Emmerdale insider. "But Robert has no idea of the transformation that's happened in Chrissie. Her efforts to frame Andy have been chillingly crafted, and she's not done yet. Robert doesn't know it, but he's met his match."

While Robert is working on shooter Lachlan, it's Bernice who targets Chrissie. She lures Lawrence's daughter into the salon on a mission to get her drunk and relaxed, and thus ready to trip herself up. To make sure her plan helps Andy, Bernice slyly records their conversation, and begins by asking Chrissie a multitude of questions about what happened to Lawrence that day. Of course, Bernice is hardly subtle, and irritated Chrissie soon begins to suspect she's being set up.

“ROBERT AND LACHLAN HAVE A RUN-IN THAT PROVES LACHY IS ON THE EDGE”

Bernice presses Chrissie for information – and happens to press the record button, too

With Chrissie keeping shtum, it's Lachlan who is the weak link – only the renewed contact that he thinks he has with dad Donny is keeping the lad sane. So as Robert steps up the intensity of his messages, troubled Lachy eventually admits he has something to confess – and Robert thinks he’s finally got him! “Robert’s delighted his trap has worked,” explains our snitch. “Soon Lachlan is being interrogated by the police – and later, he and Robert have a violent run-in that only goes to prove the lad is truly on the edge.” Robert is still unable to prove the facts, though, and Andy’s hopes fade with each passing day. Can Robert and Bernice save him – or is Andy destined to stay on the run for a long time to come?

LAWRENCE COLLAPSES!

Still recovering from his shooting, the frail fella falls to the ground...

EMMERDALE | ITV Tuesday

Lawrence pays a terrible price for the stress Lachlan has caused the White family this week – as he suffers sudden chest pains.

Lawrence is recovering slowly from being shot, but isn’t a well man, having suffered from heart problems for many years. So it’s important that he doesn’t get too stressed – something easier said than done with the worry about covering up for his grandson weighing heavily upon him. And Lachlan’s new friendship with young Liv only adds further to his worry...

Liv is the first person to give Lachlan the time of day since he blew his friendship with Gabby. The duo have bonded over computer games and enjoy hanging out together – but Lawrence fears that in tearaway Liv, Lachy has found another bad influence. He’s also worried that for a lad with a sexual assault offence on his record, getting close to Liv could spell trouble. Then there’s the matter of Liv being the sister of Aaron, the man who is living with Robert – their arch-enemy! It’s no wonder Lawrence’s blood pressure is soaring with all this going on. He suggests that Lachlan and Liv join him to play cricket, hoping that he can ensure nothing goes on between them – but as the trio enjoy the game, Lawrence is struck by pain in his chest. Can the youngsters get help in time?

DENISE'S Fears for her health grow after she passes out... SHOCK COLLAP

Denise's loved ones are worried sick about her this week, when she's struck down by a mystery illness!

The shaken woman begins to fear the worst after she faints during rehearsals for her sister Kim's salsa show. But as her worried mate Carmel pleads with her best friend to see a doctor, will Denise seek medical advice for her symptoms?

"Denise doesn't like a fuss, so she picks herself up and carries on as normal," reveals our EastEnders insider. "She's a bit freaked out like anyone would be, but Denise's stubborn side takes over and she buries her fears deep. Despite her best efforts, this just isn't something that she'll be able to hide from for long, though..."

With Denise having had a few fumbles with Carmel's son Kush, her mind is naturally all over the place as the pair continue to share awkward encounters in the Square. The trouble is, Denise and Carmel are practically living in each other's pockets as they practice Kim's dance routine together – so the guilt is quietly eating away at anxious Denise!

It's during their shimmying and shaking that she begins to feel unwell, and the two women are forced to take a breather. At this point, Denise doesn't think anything of it – and pops some painkillers in the hope that her sluggishness will pass.

However, as Carmel, Denise and Dot sift through potential salsa costumes later on, it all becomes too much for Denise and she collapses in front of them. What could possibly be wrong with her?

"Carmel helps Denise home, and she and Kim are really worried about her," shares our sneak. "Denise is clearly quite shaken up as well. Carmel suggests she go to see her GP – but will Denise listen?"

After the pair research her symptoms, Denise's fears begin to mount. But rather than confront the matter, she opts to resume helping Kim instead. And when Carmel attempts to reason with her, it's clear that Denise is too scared to face facts as she snaps at her friend for constantly nagging her.

Later, Denise finds herself with ex-lover Kush as they end up half-naked in Dot's kitchen together! Will spending time with Kush force Denise to take a reality check and find out what is wrong with her? Or will she continue to brush her health woes under the carpet?

LEANNE'S BABY BOMBSHELL

She tells Nick that Steve is the

Nick gets the shock of his life this week, when guilty Leanne reveals that Steve McDonald is her child's father!

Loved-up Nick and Leanne are on cloud nine, having moved the last of her things into his flat as he prepares to be a dad to both Leanne's unborn baby and Simon. However, Leanne hasn't been entirely honest – and rather than coming clean about her fling with Steve, she has told Nick her pregnancy was the result of a one-night stand with a stranger instead.

But as Nick declares that he doesn't want a relationship based on lies after everything that happened with his ex Carla, Leanne realises it's time for complete honesty, and divulges the true identity of her unborn baby's father...

"Nick can't believe what he's hearing – Leanne and Steve McDonald?" shares our Corrie insider. "He never would have expected those two to hook up in the first place, but finding out that Steve has also fathered Leanne's child is a real slap in the face. He isn't prepared for this huge news, and struggles to come to terms with it."

“NICK ISN'T PREPARED FOR LEANNE'S HUGE NEWS, AND STRUGGLES TO UNDERSTAND IT”

As Nick attempts to get his head round this big bombshell, Leanne tries hard to explain herself, and assures him that her rendezvous with Steve was a one-off and a huge mistake that she's deeply regretted ever since. But she really puts her foot in it when she admits that she slept with Steve the night Nick confessed his love for her! Could this dramatic revelation spell the end for their recently rekindled relationship?

"The fact that Nick is willing to bring up another man's baby as his own is a real testament to how much he loves Leanne, but never in his wildest dreams did he imagine that he'd see the biological father at the Rovers every day!" says our source. "Leanne tries to tell him that Steve wants nothing to do with the baby and will keep quiet, although Nick's not convinced. Steve could feel differently once the infant arrives on the cobbles – and grandmother-to-be Liz is struggling to keep the truth under wraps as it is!

"Nick has always loved Leanne, and wouldn't turn his back on her over a meaningless one-night stand. But Steve could change his mind about wanting to be involved in his child's life – and this is a big risk for Nick."

The smitten fella worked hard to convince Leanne to take him back, but now it's down to her to do the grafting. As she fights to save her relationship, will Nick decide that Leanne's messy situation is too much to take on?

LAURA HEFFERNAN

CORONATION STREET | ITV Wednesday

As Nick reels from Leanne's news, Steve's mum Liz is also struggling to pull herself together over the situation her son has landed himself in this week – forcing Steve to lay down the law.

Naturally, Liz was stunned to learn that her son had fathered Leanne's baby, and although both the unborn's parents have decided to leave the outcome of their one-night stand buried in the past, Liz is finding it hard to cope with the idea of having a grandkid so close who she's unable to have any contact with.

It's been an extremely tricky situation for unlucky Steve to comprehend, and he's in even deeper trouble now his wife

Michelle is pregnant, too. And although he's managing to hold it together, Liz isn't doing such a good job – and Michelle is quick to notice. As she urges Steve to find out what her mum-in-law's problem is, Steve fears Michelle is on to his slip-up, and warns his mother to hide her feelings about Leanne's baby, or find a new place to live!

While Liz is stunned, she eventually calls a truce with Steve and promises to drop her protests for the sake of his marriage. Steve is relieved to have her back onside – but now Nick also knows that Steve is Leanne's babydaddy, how long can the landlord keep the truth hidden from Michelle?

Casualty celebrates its 30th anniversary in spectacular style this week, as a helicopter comes crashing down in the car park of the ED!

The show ended on a massive cliffhanger – quite literally – four weeks ago, when Connie and her daughter Grace were run off the road, sending their car plummeting over the edge of a cliff. This week's episode picks up where the last one ended, with Connie waking up after being thrown from the car, dazed and confused, and desperate to get to her daughter Grace. But little does she realise that far worse is yet to come...

"Things are bad for Connie, and they're bad for Grace too," admits Amanda Mealing, who plays the worried mum. "The episode starts in quite a stressful and tearful place. We've never seen Connie completely break down, but in this episode you see these raw, uncensored emotions. I spent five days crawling around a ravine and crying – I was exhausted by the end of it!"

Meanwhile, back at the hospital, everyone is busy preparing for Charlie's surprise party, celebrating 30 years of him working in the ED. The staff are so caught up in the jubilant mood that nobody even notices Connie is missing at first. That is, until Jacob begins to worry about why she's not answering her phone, and decides to investigate.

"Jacob's the one who first works out something is amiss," confirms Amanda. "Initially he's oblivious to what's happened, and he even tells Charlie that he's thinking of proposing to Connie! Then a call comes in for a separate accident, which is when Jacob realises that something might be wrong with Connie and Grace. So he hijacks Iain and Jez's ambulance, and makes them go out searching."

“CONNIE IS CRAWLING TOWARDS GRACE'S SHOE WHEN THE CAR EXPLODES!”

Thankfully for Connie, Jacob's hunch turns out to be spot on, and the medics locate her at the bottom of a ravine. They quickly race to Connie's aid, and she points them in the direction of her overturned car, where she believes Grace is still trapped. But can the team get to her before it's too late?

"Those scenes were really challenging," Amanda tells us. "I had to just think about the most horrendous thing happening to someone I love,

The Holby ED is rocked when the chopper crashes and doing that take after take was draining. Connie sees Grace's shoe and is crawling towards it when the car explodes. It's very traumatic."

The paramedics eventually locate Grace, only to discover that she's in a terrible way – so much so that she has to be airlifted to hospital as quickly as possible, while hysterical Connie is put under sedation. Sadly, that's not the end of the tragic turn of events...

"There's a second story about this kid who's been given a drone as a birthday present," says Amanda. "The helicopter is returning to the hospital when the drone hits a blade, and the helicopter crashes on to the ED, causing chaos."

"Connie realises that Grace is still in the helicopter, and Jacob goes to try to get her out. She had serious injuries before, but now she has a head trauma – it's uncertain whether she'll pull through."

The team face a battle to not only save Grace, but to get Connie to leave her daughter's side long enough to get her own injuries seen to. So with Grace at death's door and Connie refusing to be treated herself, could the team be dealing with two fatalities as their most difficult shift ever comes to an end?

30 and counting!

"We've got a whole lot in the pipeline for the rest of this series – we know how it ends and how the next series begins," he teases. "There are a lot of storylines that get kicked off in this episode which will deliver in the next year or two, and probably beyond that."

Jacob is caught up in the thick of the drama both at the hospital...

HOLLYOAKS SIGNS SUE ELLEN!

The soap introduces a glam guest star – and unveils more exciting names...

Dust off your shoulder pads and pour yourselves a club soda, for a true soap legend is making her way to Hollyoaks village!

Bosses have signed Dallas icon Linda Gray – who shot to fame as Sue Ellen Ewing – to play Marnie Nightingale's glamorous mother, Tabitha Maxwell-Brown. She'll appear in the show for one week this autumn, with actress Linda promising high drama ahead of her Chester debut...

"Hollyoaks viewers are going to love it when Tabby whips up a storm just like Sue Ellen did," grins the 75-year-old star. "I'm thrilled to be going from one iconic series to another, and can't wait to work with the show's fantastic cast."

HERE COMES TROUBLE!

Meanwhile, Hollyoaks chiefs have been busy hiring some fresh faces to spice up the village. Actress Kerry Bennett will play vixen Eva Falco – a detective who also happens to be the niece of Jack Osborne.

"Eva's mother died when she was very young, and she grew up not knowing who her father was," reveals our soap insider. "She's now on a mission to find the person who kept her apart from her dad, and wants revenge!"

Also on his way to the village is a former character – but he looks a little different! Star Rory Douglas Speed takes over the role of Warren's son, Joel Dexter, who was previously played by Andrew Still.

"Joel's not the messed-up young lad he once was," says our source. "After finding God, he has turned his life around and is training to be a priest! However, his strict moral code will be tested after reuniting with his villainous father..."

ELLIE TERROR?

Finally, Hollyoaks has joined forces with charities The Mix and Rape Crisis to address the issue of sexual consent. Ellie will be at the heart of the storyline that sees her go home with a man she's just met – and wake up the next day with no recollection of sleeping with him.

Former Waterloo Road star Ben Ryan-Davies, who played Ronan Burley, has been cast as Dirk's nephew Nick Savage – the fella who catches Ellie's eye during freshers' week.

"The events that follow a party at the Loft are set to divide opinions among the local residents, and explore the blurred lines around sexual consent," explains our mole. "Is everything as it seems with Nick, or is he hiding something beneath his cheeky grin?"

The storyline will kick off on screen during the week commencing 26 September.

Joel has found God – will Eva find her target for revenge?

JOHNNY & JENNY'S FACTORY FUMBLE!

The secret couple are mortified as their romance is exposed...

There are three red faces at Underworld this week, when Aidan walks in on Johnny and Jenny as they're getting steamy on the office desk! The couple are caught out by the arrival of Johnny's son – who won't be happy to learn his dad has been carrying on with one of his best factory workers...

"This is all very awkward," chuckles our Weatherfield insider. "When Aidan first got together with his girlfriend Eva, Johnny made no secret of the fact that romancing the workers was a very bad idea. But it wasn't long afterwards that he and Jenny fell for one another – so no wonder the cheeky pair have been keeping their romance under wraps ever since!"

While Aidan is busy negotiating with his frustrated Underworld workforce (see p42) just outside the front door, Jenny and Johnny foolishly end up going for it on the factory floor. So they really have nobody to blame but themselves when Aidan makes his sudden appearance. However, with the rest of the factory staff just metres away, will he be the only one to catch them out?

"Some would say that is just what Jenny deserves – given that she's secretly been spying on the factory girls for weeks!" snaps our sneak. "Unbeknown to them, it's her grassing them up to her secret lover that got them into hot water with Johnny in the first place. So if they walk in behind Aidan and witness the same saucy scene he just has, there will be hell to pay..."

With their little secret on the verge of being blown in particularly humiliating fashion, might Jenny and Johnny be forced to face the music a lot sooner than they were hoping?

MOIRA CATCHES CAIN AT IT!

She's horrified to walk in on her ex and Charity looking cosy...

Charity manages to get her wicked way at last this week, as she forces herself on Cain right at the moment Moira calls round to visit!

While she's been determined to snaffle her ex for weeks, Cain's devotion to Moira – despite her resolve to divorce him – has so far ruined any hope of a reunion between the former couple. But Charity being Charity, she won't give up...

"Cain is hardly falling at Charity's feet – despite her best efforts!" tuts our Dales insider. "So she's excited when she secures tickets for a brewery convention. Unfortunately, Cain's not really in the mood for whooping it up on free booze after his divorce papers come through – meaning Charity has to put her thinking cap back on."

After Cain refuses to agree when Charity insists that he wants her, she doesn't think twice about resorting to more cunning measures. And she plumbs new depths by trying to remove any chance that Moira might take back Cain...

"Charity won't accept no for an answer," sighs our informant. "After sending a text to Moira using Cain's phone, she pretty much throws herself at him on the sofa. Just as she manages to get him into a compromising position, Moira walks in – and Charity just sits back smugly to observe the ensuing drama!"

The look on Moira's face says it all as the scene playing out in front of her sinks in – so is Charity finally about to achieve her unsavoury victory?

SHAKIL'S HAPPY BIRTHDAY?

He's hoping for a boozed-up good time – but what is he hiding?

It's a big week as birthday boy Shakil turns 16 – but it isn't all celebrations for the teen.

Having moved out of his father's home to make way for the new woman in his dad's life, Shakil is already at odds with Umar and heartbroken about his parents' split. Although he's a nice kid, Shakil is going through the normal process of rebelling against his parents, and wants to grow up faster than either Umar or Carmel would like. However, as his milestone birthday gets under way, Shakil is about to learn that life is full of disappointments...

"Things at home aren't great for Shaki, so he's turned all his attentions to his friends," says our Square source. "He is very keen on Bex, so he's upset when he plans a day out for the both of them, plus Mark, Louise and Courtney, but Bex pulls out at the last minute."

After hanging out with Stacey instead, Bex unveils a new look – but what will Shakil think?

"Shaki's certainly taken aback," reveals our mole. "But whether that's in a good or a bad way remains to be seen!"

There's not a lot of time for him to ponder the change, however, as preparations take place. Carmel is determined to throw Shakil a traditional party to mark the occasion, whereas he wants to be with his mates – so he turns to Mark for help. Despite promising there'll be no booze at the party, Shakil distracts Martin and Kush while Mark makes off with a crate of cider from the Vic, ready for the big day to go with a swing.

But despite this sly little victory, Shakil's big brother Kush soon realises all is not well after Mark spies a present the younger lad has binned.

"The gift was from their dad, Umar," sighs our snoop. "The fact that Shaki has chucked it away shows exactly how he's feeling about their father. Umar has hurt them all so badly that Shaki doesn't want anything to do with him. He's obviously still carrying a lot of anger."

So, as the festivities go off with a bang, will Shakil get the happy birthday he's hoping for?

JOANNE GETS HER MAN!

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 Bank Holiday Mon

Bunny boiler Joanne finally gets her claws into Joe Roscoe this week – as his fiancée Mercedes languishes in prison on drugs charges!

Mercedes was arrested and thrown into prison last week, after evidence of her drug dealing came to light. Joe is devastated as he attempts to pick up the pieces, and turns to Joanne for help – but she soon becomes more than just a shoulder to cry on...

"Joe sees Joanne as a helpful and understanding person – she seems normal compared to Mercedes," explains Ayden Callaghan, who plays him. "Of course, the audience has a very different perspective on her!

But she's helped Joe out in the past, so he turns to her to see if there's anything that she can do to assist him this time.

"I think he's aware that she fancies him, and everyone likes a bit of attention, of course, especially when they're going through a rough time. Joe is feeling fragile right now, so Joanne seizes her opportunity – and they end up in a clinch."

“JOE IS WEAK, SO HE'S LOOKING FOR COMFORT AND SAFETY IN JOANNE”

She locks lips with Joe while Mercedes is behind bars...

We can only imagine what Mercedes would have to say about her lawyer making a move on Joe behind her back! Sadly, Mercedes is none the wiser, as she's banged up for her part in Maria's recent drug scam. And things don't look at all good for the McQueen madam...

"Mercy already has a rap sheet, so no, things don't look great!" agrees Ayden with a chuckle. "As far as Joe is concerned, that's it for him and Mercedes. He still loves her and cares about her, but he has two kids to think about now. He feels really betrayed by her – he's just after a simple life from now on."

Clearly he chose the wrong woman for that! But while fans know that Mercedes was trying to do the right thing for once, Joe refuses to hear her out – and that paves the way for minx Joanne to make her move.

Mercy is hanging on the phone while her man is hanging on Joanne

Happy ever after?

It doesn't look as if Mercedes will be banged up for long, as we recently saw sneak pics of her on her wedding day! Does that mean there's hope of a happy ending for her and Joe?

"Let's face it, neither Joe nor Mercedes has a very good track record with weddings – so here's hoping this one bucks the trend!" teases Ayden. "But until we get to that point, there's certainly a lot of interesting ground to be covered..."

"If it was Joe making a move on Joanne when she was in a vulnerable position, people would probably see it as being quite predatory," points out Ayden. "However, men can be vulnerable, too! Joe's weak, so he's looking for comfort and safety – and Joanne totally takes advantage of that."

Having been given a glimpse into Joanne's psyche, it's fair to say that she will see their passionate encounter as a symbol of Joe's undying love! But is a relationship with Joanne even on Joe's radar right now?

"I think it's safe to assume that Joanne will take things further in her own mind," laughs Ayden. "Joe does end things with Mercedes this week, but that doesn't necessarily mean he wants to get together with Joanne now or in the future. But what Joanne will take from Joe and Mercedes separating is anybody's guess!"

When news reaches Joanne that Mercy could be released, she panics, worried about what it will mean for her romance with Joe. So, will Joanne fulfil her duties as a lawyer and hand Mercy a 'get out of jail free' card? Or will she leave her client languishing in despair as she schemes to snag Joe for herself?

Little does she realise that something far more sinister is afoot...

In the sanctity of the confessional, Jack is torn over what to do next, though he takes comfort from the fact that Steph is safe with her policeman boyfriend Mark. ## GARY Did he really attack Cooper? ARRESTED!

Gary Canning finds himself in trouble with the law once again this week, after Mark arrests him for the attack on schoolboy Cooper!

Given that Cooper is accused of sexually assaulting Gary's daughter Xanthe, it's no surprise that the protective dad is prime suspect in the attack. But did Gary do it?

"Gary is definitely capable of something like that, especially with his history," says Damien Richardson, who plays him. "He's very frustrated with the way the school is dealing with the issue, and he thinks he can handle it in a much more immediate way."

Although Gary has an alibi for the time of the assault – conveniently given to him by Paul – it soon transpires that Cooper was attacked 15 minutes earlier than the police first thought, putting Gary straight back to the top of the suspects list.

"All the evidence is certainly pointing towards Gary's culpability," sighs Damien. "If he's found guilty of the crime, his parole will be revoked, and he'll be thrown right back into prison. So things are looking very bleak indeed for him at this point."

But while Gary is doing everything he can to stay out of jail, Damien would quite like to see his alter ego return behind bars!

"I thought they could have got more out of the time that Gary and Paul were in jail," he admits. "Especially if they were in the same cell – that would have been fun!"

The Morgans find themselves staring down the barrel of a gun this week, after the violent thugs they've been running from storm their safe house – and threaten to kill them all!

The family were forced to flee Summer Bay last week, when dodgy drug dealer Spike turned up at their house. After getting in touch with their witness protection liaison officer, the clan were whisked away to a secret location, where they are holed up waiting to find out where they'll go next.

THE BIG INTERVIEW

EASTENDERS | BBC1 Bank Holiday Monday

As Ben's revenge mission hurtles towards a dangerous climax, star Harry Reid talks life after Paul – and teases some huge Mitchell family secrets...

I'm sure Ben will find another boyfriend

The big noise in EastEnders this year has been about Walford heavyweights Peggy, Grant and Phil – but it's the younger generation of the Mitchell family who have blown us all away recently.

Star Harry Reid, who plays Ben, wowed us with one of the standout performances of the summer when his alter ego learned that boyfriend Paul had died as a result of a vicious homophobic attack. And as Ben and Jay team up in pursuit of Paul's killers this week, 24-year-old actor Harry tells Inside Soap that the pair may have bitten off more than they can chew on this occasion...

Poor Ben is having a terrible time, Harry! What is going through his mind as he grieves for Paul?

Phil has drilled it into him, "You can't be gay, you're a Mitchell", and so Ben has spent his entire life fighting his sexuality. To have finally bitten the bullet and had this one moment of pure love with Paul, only for it to be snatched away from him, has made Ben angry at the world.

This week, Jay manages to track down the whereabouts of Paul's killers. Why has he teamed up with Ben?

Jay is having a tough time and so is Ben, so this is about them coming together and having a shoulder each to lean on. The pact

"PAUL'S KILLERS COULD BE PUSSYCATS – OR NUTTERS!"

they have is that one can help the other, and they're not afraid to take big steps.

Are they out of their depth this time?

I think they are in terms of their rational thinking, and if they're going for a full-out himself. He is also upset. Paul was so harmless, and all Ben thinks about every day is some bloke stamping on his face. It was a really vicious hate crime.

How did you feel when you learned that Paul's death would be the result of a homophobic attack?

Obviously very sad, as it's such a horrible thing – and it was only after I'd done some research that I realised it still happens. The storyline was shocking, but I'm glad it had such a big impact and sparked conversation. The scene with Paul lying in the morgue sent shivers down my spine.

The moment when Ben found out that Paul had died was gut-wrenching to watch. Did you find it difficult to film?

The hardest part for me actually was seeing Jonny [Labey, who played Paul] behind the scenes. He filmed Paul's death, and then went away for a few weeks before coming back to shoot the scene where Ben holds Paul's hand in the body bag. Before we shot it, I saw him in the corridor and I could feel myself welling up, as I'd missed him. We'd built up such a great working relationship, so those scenes came really naturally.

What reaction did you receive when the audience was initially led to believe that Ben had died?

My social media went a bit crazy! It wasn't planned, but I had a week off work when people found out that Ben was 'dead'. My uni friends were coming up to me saying, "That's a shame, you're back to auditioning with us now," which I played along with! Also, people have really come to like Ben.

Get (it on with) Carter?: Ben's connection to Johnny seems strictly platonic so far

»FROM PREVIOUS PAGE

It made me happy that they were upset about it. Although they were even sadder when they found out it was Paul!

Had Ben and Paul built up a big fan base, like Emmerdale's 'Robbron'?

It's actually Ben and Jay that have more of a following – they have several Instagram and Twitter pages! Jonny and I had started to build a bit of a fan base, and then Paul died. So now all the photos are just of me staring longingly into the distance!

Were you sad to see Jonny leave Walford behind?

I was. When he joined the show, I had the opportunity to play Ben's happy side, which we very rarely see. I'm gutted he's gone, but this is EastEnders – I'm sure Ben will find another boyfriend!

We've seen him and Johnny Carter strike up a close bond...

With Johnny, it's that thing of another gay character is on the Square, so people assume he and Ben will get together. I think they work better as a friendship, as Johnny has helped him so much, and they've formed a brotherhood. I don't see them getting together, but who knows?

And what about Ben's relationship with Phil? Is it beyond repair?

I've grown to realise that Phil and Ben will always struggle to see eye to eye. The fact that Phil could only bring himself to talk about Paul after he was dead really hurts Ben. Phil will try to understand, but I don't think he'll ever fully accept it.

We've noticed that Ben's mannerisms are very similar to Phil's. Is that a conscious choice you've made?

Yeah, I decided to do that a while ago. My thinking was that Ben is constantly trying to impress his dad by being this manly Mitchell, so he is bound to pick up little habits. I do a very good Steve [McFadden, who plays Phil] impersonation as well!

What has it been like having Ross Kemp, who plays Grant, back on set?

Pretty cool! There was a moment when I was in the Mitchell house and Steve and Ross were together at the dining table talking about old times. Meanwhile, I was sat there quite weirdly in the corner, just watching them talking!

LAURA-JAYNE TYLER

"WOMEN WILL LOVE WHAT GRANT DOES NEXT!"

HARRY DROPS US A FEW HINTS ON THE BIG GUY'S SECRET STORYLINE...

Interviewing a member of the Mitchell clan does have its advantages – as we take the opportunity to quiz Harry on Grant's next visit to the Square! And the big news is that we won't be disappointed...

"It's so good!" he grins.

"I know what people think of when they see Grant, and there is a moment that the nation is going to love. I think the women watching will especially enjoy what happens!"

It's surely only a matter of time before the Mitchell hard man finds out that Mark Fowler Jnr is his son, too. But will Ben be around to watch the fireworks?

"I've not had too much with Ned [Porteous, who plays Mark], but we do have a little bit that fuels something..." teases the star. "He [Mark] is very pretty, isn't he? At the time I said, 'How is he Grant's son?' – and I think even Ross himself went, 'Oh... okay!'"

“Rhona and Pierce together is the last thing Paddy expected!”

As actor Dominic Brunt returns to Emmerdale after a four-month break, he tells us why change was good for him, but not alter ego Paddy...

EMMERDALE | ITV Tuesday

Walking back into the Dales must be pretty daunting for Paddy Kirk this week. He left behind a trail of destruction when he fled to a new job in Germany earlier this year, with wife Rhona broken-hearted following his affair with their friend Tess. But time is a great healer, and Paddy has his fingers crossed that he'll return to a wife who's ready to forgive him. It's just a shame that no one's been keeping him up to date with the village gossip...

“Paddy thinks he's given Rhona the time and space to think about everything, just like she asked for,” explains Dominic Brunt, who took a break from the show to direct his third film. “He thinks he'll dive in and surprise her, and in his wildest dreams he hopes she'll throw her arms around him and say, ‘Weren't we being silly? Let's carry on!’. Which of course is a ridiculous, very male thing to think!”

Well quite, because what Paddy doesn't know is that since he took the position in Germany, Rhona has had the space to mend her broken heart – with the help of handsome widower Pierce! Together they've navigated a horrible situation and fallen in love. It's a massive shock to Paddy's system when he arrives at his marital home to discover the couple in a passionate embrace.

“Rhona and Pierce being together is the last thing Paddy expected,” shares Dominic. “He goes into the house to surprise her and Leo, and as he's looking around, he notices it's ridiculously clean – that isn't Rhona.

Darken his door: Paddy's flowers wilt as he realises what's been going on She's slovenly and has bits everywhere! Then Rhona and Pierce come through the door snogging, which is how he finds out.”

It's one hell of a shock, and catches Paddy completely off-guard. But after his horror subsides, he starts to think about the ways in which he can win back his wife.

“It's really fun to play this, because Pierce is Paddy's new nemesis,” laughs Dominic. “It's the nerd vs jock story. Pierce is the perfect human being – fit, good-looking, eloquent and likeable. Everyone seems to love him. He's the opposite of Paddy, so Paddy is being slowly destroyed by him.”

Of course, the most unforgivable of all Pierce's sins is that he's become mates with Marlon. Wives come and go, but Paddy and Marlon are soulmates. So how is that going to affect the strongest bond in the Dales?

“It's going to drive Paddy insane!” grins Dominic. “He wants Marlon to be on his side and agree Pierce is a horrible person and the enemy. But Marlon doesn't – he says he's a great chap and that he's been hanging around with him while Paddy has been away. It breaks Paddy's heart again, because Marlon is his partner in life.”

While Paddy has returned to a living nightmare, Dominic's comeback has been the opposite – and he was ready to return.

“I've missed Emmerdale so much,” he enthuses. “I've been in the show for so long that you get institutionalised in a certain way and take things for granted. Being on the outside for four-and-a-half months, I've realised how lucky I am. The show is the love of my life, apart from my wife and kids.”

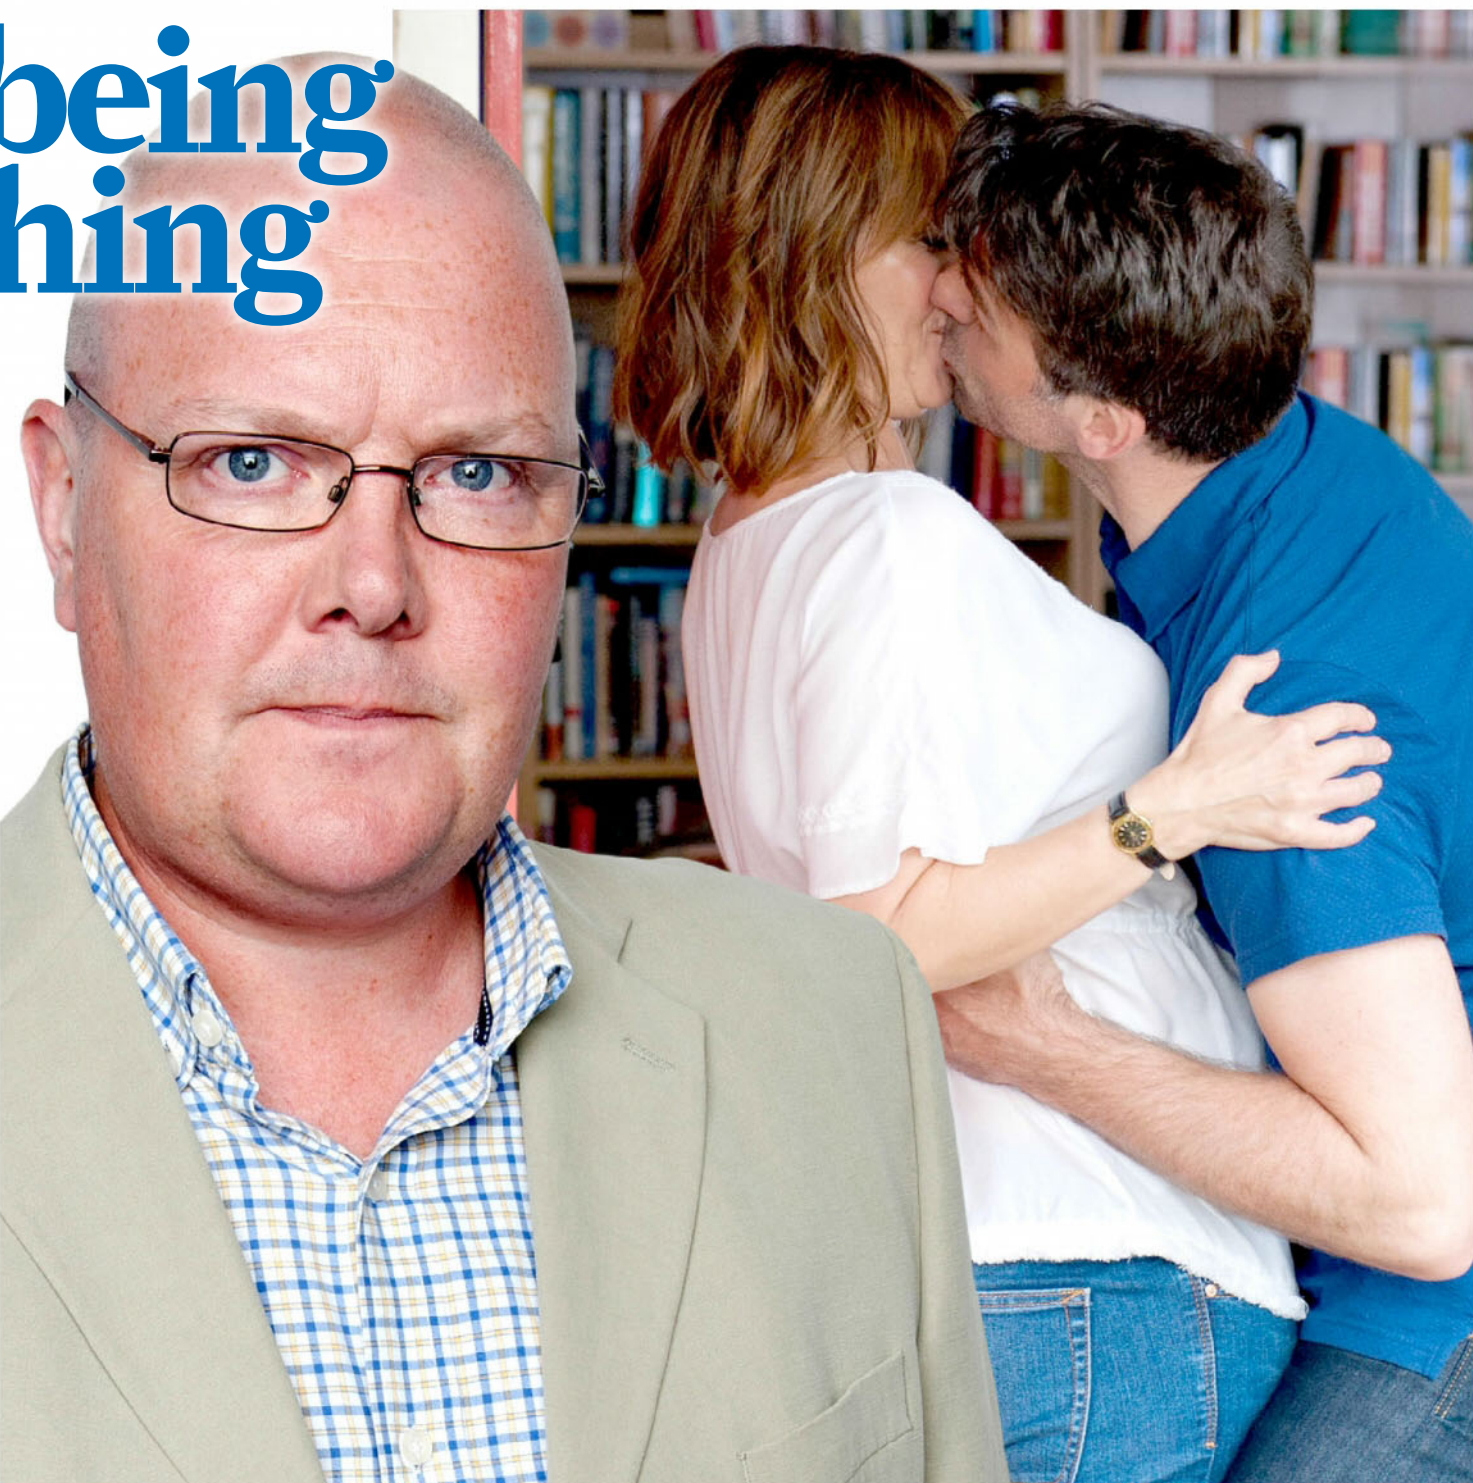

Unlike Paddy, Dominic could rely on his best mates in the Dales to keep him abreast of everything that's been going on.

“I was in touch with Zoe Henry [Rhona], Mark Charnock [Marlon] and lots of the cast,” he tells us. “We were emailing and sending abuse to each other all the time! Even after so long playing Paddy, I don't find it easy, and coming back in when I haven't learned a line in so long has been hard. You forget how much effort goes into it, so I'm doubling my efforts to get back up to speed!”

being hing

Rhona
BEWARE!

ONLY A MAD WOMAN would swap gorgeous, devoted Pierce for cheating Paddy, but Dominic says that the glimpses of nastiness we've seen from Tess' widower should be noted. He's been spiteful in his dealings with Rakesh over their poker bet – so is that just the beginning of things to come?

"Remember that Tess has told Paddy things about Pierce that no one else knows," warns Dominic. "He can see all the telltale signs of everything that went on between them. So when he spots things in Rhona's house, like everything being in its place, Paddy thinks it's way over the top."

We know how miserable Tess was in her marriage, and that her torment at Pierce's hands was one of the reasons that she embarked on her affair with Paddy.

"Paddy knows Pierce isn't a good person," scowls Dominic. "But I'm really enjoying working with [actor] Jonathan Wrather. He's the opposite of Pierce – he's got a twinkle about him! I've heard rumours of some big storylines..."

CORONATION STREET | ITV Bank Holiday Monday

As Councillor
Metcalf gets drawn into nasty Phelan's scam, actress Sally Dynevor tells us
why this story has her vote...

Phelan has Sally wrapped around his little finger!

A wise man may give a fool council: Cagney Phelan gets one over on Sally

It's always a treat to watch Sally living her dream of being a Very Important Person in the Weatherfield community. There's nothing she likes more than proving how much better she is than her neighbours, and as a local councillor, she's getting a taste of power – and she likes it! However, the problem with great power is that it comes with great responsibility. So imagine the potential scandal if Sally were to throw her political weight behind a dodgy scam like the one Phelan is getting off the ground. But Sally Dynevor – who plays the social climber – reckons Sally is blinded by glory and primed to fall for Phelan's lies...

"Phelan is clever, and he knows how to play people – especially Sally," laughs the Street favourite. "Sal likes the fact that Phelan talks to her like a councillor and takes her very seriously. She thinks he's quite intelligent, and since he seems to like her as a councillor, he must be okay!"

Just like Phelan's oblivious partner Eileen, Sally has no idea that he is positioning them as pawns in his get-rich-quick scheme. Along with shady associate Vinny, Phelan is plotting to build a show home, collect deposits for the other buildings on the site before they are completed, then run off with the cash.

But first he needs the development to be approved by the council.

"Sally knows she has to be careful – people won't want the building to be developed, as it's currently used as a meeting place," explains the actress.

"Initially, the council vetoes it and Sally withdraws her support because she knows it's going to upset her constituents. She was elected by them, and she can't support something they don't. She's worried about getting re-elected."

Phelan hadn't factored in losing Sally's support – but he's not a criminal mastermind for nothing! He hits on the idea to offer some affordable housing for residents with learning difficulties, and brings along Alex to demonstrate those who may benefit from what he plans to build.

"He's very clever, and he's got Sally wrapped around his little finger," says Sally. "She thinks that if she goes back to the council committee to explain this benefit, she may get brownie points. It's sad, because she really does want to be looked up to and be a good councillor."

Wise men build houses and fools live in them: Phelan uses Alex in his plan

She wants to do the right thing. It's just that Sally doesn't have the experience."

While Sally is hoodwinked, there's one member of the Metcalfe household who doesn't like Pat Phelan one bit.

"Tim can see right through him," shares Sally. "I'm not sure why, but he is a bit savvier than Sally. She always thinks she's cleverer than Tim because he's 'only a window cleaner', so she's very disparaging about him. The truth is that he's probably 10 times cleverer and far more worldly-wise! Tim knows people like Phelan."

We predict that Sally is going to seriously regret getting involved with this development in a few months' time, but by then it will be too late to salvage her reputation. However, her real-life alter ego is thoroughly enjoying this political plight.

"I love it, and it's great to see another side to Sally," enthuses the star. "It goes with all the snobbery, and it's so different from what Tim does. I like the fact that Sal is still working at Underworld, too. And my favourite thing is her nice new councillor wardrobe – it's a bit over the top, but Sally thinks she needs to have a certain look now that she's Councillor Metcalfe!"

KATE WHITE

SALLY PROVES SHE IS a woman of the people this week – by leading a walkout at Underworld! With the bosses away for the afternoon, the cheeky factory workers take advantage, popping on a film and putting their feet up! Of course, by the time Johnny returns, the machinists are back at their desks, looking as if they've been beavering away. But when Jenny tells Johnny what went on, he docks his workers' wages!

Accusing management of spying, Sally leads a strike and they all head to the pub, where Sal is hailed as the hero of the hour. Can she stick to her guns and find a successful resolution for the staff?

CASUALTY | BBC1 Saturday

Original Casualty cast members
Derek Thompson and Cathy Shipton reflect on three decades of the medical drama...

“It’s the happiest and the darkest h

You can’t mark a milestone as huge as 30 years without a certain amount of nostalgia – so while the dramatic part of Casualty’s big anniversary episode centres around Connie’s plight (see p18), there’s also a much happier storyline that celebrates Charlie’s three decades working in Holby City Hospital.

It’s a big moment for actor Derek Thompson, who’s celebrating the same milestone with the show. Here, he’s reunited with his old pal Cathy Shipton – who plays Lisa ‘Duffy’ Duffin – to talk about 30 years of drama in the ED...

Derek, what it’s like to be at the centre of the 30th anniversary episode?

Derek I find it very easy to accept, actually, because the guy who Charlie was based on – a fella called Peter Salt – is still around.

He’s a genuine charge nurse, and he’s kind of the maypole that the ideas still dance around. And Charlie’s the only character who’s been there for 30 years, so it’s quite natural they should point the finger at him!

How does Duffy end up being involved in all the drama that unfolds?

Cathy Well, the hub of this episode is to celebrate Charlie’s 30 years in nursing, so that’s what Duffy has turned up to do. There are other people cropping up from Charlie’s past too, either in person or via video message, to wish him well. So it’s the happiest day – and the darkest hour.

Charlie and Duffy are reunited with their old pal Josh. What was it like working with Ian Bleasdale again?

Cathy We found it absolutely normal, the three of us being together, because we have kept in touch over the years – whether we’ve been in the show or not. But it was everyone else’s reaction to it that was the funniest, because they’d see us and go, “Oh my God, look who’s here!”. And you’d think to yourself, ‘It’s just us!’. You forget the sort of impact it has on other people.

Derek The way the characters fitted together again was just automatic. You get a certain warm glow from working with your old mates, and that was a reward that I hadn’t really expected. Suddenly we found ourselves back in the old days again!

“THE SHOW WAS AXED AFTER THE SECOND SERIES!”

our...”

Was it different shooting this particular episode, Derek?

Derek This feels to me more like a spin-off than anything else – it's like Casualty: The Movie! There was just something about it. We were given more time to do things than we normally would. There was a different rhythm, so it was a bit of an odd episode, but it did feel like a natural development.

Your characters square up to Jacob this week. What was that like to film?

Derek Pretty good, as the script said that he couldn't hit back! That was a wonderful scene, although it was quite frightening to play because it breaks the rules for Charlie and Duffy – they're doing everything they shouldn't be doing. It was intense.

Do you both remember what your first day on the Casualty set was like?

Two against one: Why do the nurses have a showdown with Jacob?

Cathy I remember going to the read-through – I hadn't done any TV before because I came from a stage background, so I was absolutely terrified!

Derek Before Casualty, I had hopped about from job to job, and I didn't stay anywhere for long. I remember getting excited about the idea for the original script, and my agent cautioned me that I would have to make a commitment for at least two series, possibly three! I thought that sounded quite good – and since then there's been no looking back. It just gets better.

FRIENDS REUNITED!

AS WELL AS BEING jam-packed with drama, this feature-long episode is also a lovely trip down memory lane for Casualty fans. There'll be appearances from a whole host of past characters – and actor Ian Bleasdale, who reprises the role of paramedic Josh for this special episode, was delighted to be back in the thick of the action...

“My initial feeling was of slight apprehension – and on the first day, I dealt with a technically complex script!” he chuckles. “The medical adviser Pete Salt said, ‘Ian, you know what to do’ – and I did! It was a great cast and crew, and a fantastic director and producer. I just felt completely at home again, and loved it!”

Are either of you surprised that Casualty is still going strong after 30 years?

Cathy I'm flabbergasted! As an actor you often start a job, then before long you're off to the next one. We did have a small hiccup after the second series when the show was axed for being too political, but then it was reinstated. So I am quite surprised that we're still here – but wonderfully so!

SARAH ELLIS

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 Bank Holiday Monday

Actress Amy Conachan

can't wait for her character to put the frighteners on killer Cam...

Cameron is a dangerous man, but

Courtney is stubborn

Killer Cameron has the women in his life eating out of the palm of his hand, and it's been looking as if Cam really will get away with murder! But to his dismay, one gutsy lady is arriving in the village who will prove much more difficult to control.

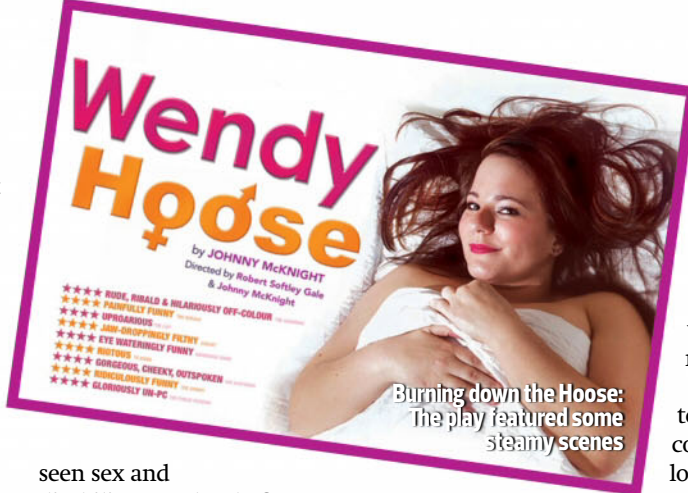

This week, his cousin Courtney receives a frosty reception when she turns up for his dad's will reading. Soon, Courtney becomes suspicious of where Lockie has gone, and vows to stay until she finds him – leaving Cameron on edge. But Amy Conachan, who plays the newcomer, is chuffed with her character's first plot...

"In the past, I've played characters who needed to have a disability as part of the story, but this role and this storyline isn't about that – and I think that's a really important step forward for me as an actress and as a person," explains the star. "People are more educated and aware of disabilities nowadays, and I think having a girl in a wheelchair telling a story about her being in a wheelchair is a bit old now."

"I think that in the long term, Courtney's disability needs to be addressed at some point, because otherwise it's like you're avoiding the elephant in the room," adds Amy. "For me, it's great that my first story had nothing to do with that whatsoever – and I just happen to be in a wheelchair."

This is Amy's first television role – and before joining Hollyoaks, she burst on to the theatre scene when she played Laura in Wendy Hoose, a two-hander 'disability sex comedy'. The play was Amy's first professional job, and it went down a storm in both her native Scotland, and London.

"Wendy Hoose was great!" grins the actress. "I don't think people had really seen sex and disability together before – and it was nice to show young people with disabilities go about their normal lives. This story was told in such a funny way that I think people felt like they had permission to laugh at it as well.

"I was absolutely sweating at first when I had to act out the raunchy scenes," continues Amy. "It was embarrassing to begin with, but you get over it quickly – then your mum sits in the front row and it's all really embarrassing again!"

"IF I HAD A SEX SCENE, I'D JUST TELL MY DAD NOT TO WATCH!"

However, sex and seduction come with the Hollyoaks territory, and you're lucky (or perhaps unlucky) if you last five minutes before having a roll around with a neighbour. Would Amy be happy to partake in some sexy on-screen scenarios?

"If the story went that way, then I'd go for it – I'd just tell my dad not to watch that episode!" she laughs. "Courtney doesn't have any relationships in the village other than her immediate family, so who knows? But some romance would be nice."

For now, love will have to wait, as Courtney's main concern is tracing the location of her cousin Lockie. While readers are aware that evil Cameron killed poor Lockie and disposed of his body, Courtney is clueless. But she's a woman on a mission, and Amy believes her alter ego could be the one to finally take down Cameron...

"Courtney definitely has that in her," reckons the star. "She's feisty and stubborn, and she does what she wants and gets what she wants. Cameron is a dangerous man and she should be wary of him – but if anyone can give as good as she gets, it's Courtney!"

AMY LEARNED THAT TOM CUNNINGHAM IS NOT A LITTLE BOY ANY MORE...

As well as locking horns with Cameron this week, Courtney also has a run-in with young Tom – as she attempts to persuade him to let Peri look after baby Steph. And having been a fan of Hollyoaks when she was a teen, Amy found it particularly surreal to be filming with Ellis Hollins, who plays Tom...

"I remember Ellis playing Tom when he was a little boy," reminisces the actress. "So when I had to film my first scene with him, I was like, 'Oh my God, you're a big boy now – you're almost a man!'"

"It's so funny how people grow up with the show," continues Amy. "I keep recognising lots of faces of people who have been in Hollyoaks for a long time, and I'd love to see how Courtney would work with all of their characters."

Corrie on CONNING!

As Phelan brings unwitting Sally into his dodgy scheme this week, he joins a long list of con men who have fooled the Street's residents...

CARTER

Who? Before he was Emmerdale's Pierce, Jonathan Wrather was another suspicious character – ex-con Joe Carter, who ingratiated himself with factory boss Mike Baldwin.

He said... Joe offered Mike the chance to enjoy his freedom while he took over running the factory, with Karen McDonald as his supervisor.

But really... Joe schemed to take down Mike and get control of the factory by paying loads of money to a fake company he'd set up to embezzle the funds.

The con was on? No! Smitten Karen turned out to be the weak link. She initially played ball, even forging Mike's signature on cheques, but she soon sang like a canary – with Joe being driven away by Mike after breaking Karen's heart.

TONY STEWART

Who? Gruff Lothario Tony Stewart loved Liz, but couldn't resist the charms of bad girl Tracy Barlow.

He said... Tony promised Liz a new life in Spain, if she just sold off the Rovers to Travis Ltd, a company who'd recently made an offer for cash-strapped Steve and Michelle's share of the pub.

But really... Tony and Tracy had set up the company to swindle the McDonalds out of the Rovers, so they could take over. Tracy fancied herself as the next landlady, lording it over the cobbles.

The con was on? Almost! Luckily, at the last minute, Carla scuppered everything by offering to buy Steve and Michelle's share. Furious, Tracy told Liz everything, and she warned Tony never to show his face again!

IS HER

OLIVES

Who? Suave Lewis Archer was an escort when Audrey met him, but he soon fell for her. Family disapproval meant Audrey and Lewis split up – but when he returned months later, it seemed he had moved on with his affections...
He said... Gail fell under the spell of the silver-tongued gent. Lewis asked her to run a hotel with him in Italy, and Gail decided this was the perfect investment for her retirement.
But really... Gail's life savings were certainly being invested abroad, but she wouldn't reap the benefit! Lewis was getting his revenge on Gail for ruining his romance with Audrey, by taking the foolish woman for all he could get.

The con was on? Yep, Lewis got away with it. As Gail gathered the family to reveal all about her Italy plans, he failed to show. Instead, he'd left a DVD detailing just how and why he'd scammed Gail – while he headed off to start a new life with her cash! Gail's face was a picture.

LUKE STRONG

Who? Carla sent handsome replacement manager Luke Strong to helm Underworld in her absence – to the delight of smitten Rosie Webster.
He said... Rosie wasn't sure of how to invest the money she'd got in compensation for being kidnapped, but new boyfriend Luke offered her a share of the factory, and Rosie jumped at this 'golden opportunity'.

But really... Luke had sold Rosie shares that actually belonged to Carla, and weren't his to sell. When he found out Carla was returning, he didn't have long to make his escape.
The con was on? Yep! Luke told Rosie he would sell her the rest of his shares, and she agreed. Only when Luke was halfway to Rio did Rosie discover she'd bought nothing.

LIONEL HIPKISS

Who? Mel Hutchwright – played by veteran actor Sir Ian McKellen – was the author of the novel Hard Grinding, which was adored by the older residents of the cobbles. So they were delighted when he took up Blanche Hunt's invitation to attend their book club.
He said... He needed funding for the publishing of his next book, in which he'd flatteringly named and based characters on his new-found Street buddies.
But really... He was a freeloading impostor called Lionel Hipkiss, who'd successfully pulled off this trick at several other book clubs.

The con was on? It wasn't a happy ending for Lionel. Good old Ken – who'd been suspicious from the start – worked out the truth, and soon the crafty con man was run out of town.

Who? When Ken found out he had fathered a son he never knew about in the 60s, he also gained a grandson. James soon bonded with fellow Street gay and do-gooder Sophie, who began helping at the homeless hostel where James worked.
He said... The opportunity had come up for the charity to have a permanent premises to continue their oh-so-good work, but they were £20K short. Sophie obliged, courtesy of dad Kev's bank account. However, the charity's owners absconded with the cash! Surely not?

But really... Would you believe it, James was in on it all along, and the owners and him were set to split the cash. But when relations turned sour, James moved on – to try to remortgage Ken's house!
The con was on? Although he was almost caught out, James wriggled out of it and got his cheque for £50K. But Ken rumbled him at last, and James fled the Street forever.

She may no longer be serving bitter and barbs from behind the bar at the Rovers, but Bet Lynch is still a big part of Street life. Current star Catherine Tyldesley (Eva) joined the waxwork of Bet at Madame Tussauds in Blackpool to mark the occasion, while Julie herself entertained the customers of B&Q Stockport as she launched a new range of wallpaper in – what else? – leopard skin. At your

As feisty farmer Moira, Natalie has become used to being in the thick of the Emmerdale drama. Here, she talks animals, her police past and banter with Cain's real missus...

It must be ace working with animals. Have you had any unexpected incidents with them while on camera?

...asks Emily from Hull

Funny you should ask, Emily! The other day Bill Ward [James] and I were filming a very serious moment, and this massive cow shoved its head right in between us and let out a huge moo! Maybe it was commenting on what James was telling Moira. It was so funny, we couldn't keep going as we were laughing so much.

Moira is fab, but if you were allowed to play another Emmerdale character for a day, who would it be?

...asks Jacqui, via email

I would love to play Andy Sugden for a day, because he gets to drive all the good vehicles that I'm trying to get them to allow me to drive. Actually, I've driven a tractor recently, but it's only taken them seven years to let me do it! I've not even been on the quad bike yet. So I'd like to be Andy for that reason – but also because he gets around in the village and has stories with lots of other characters and in lots of different locations.

What was your initial reaction when you heard Moira would be getting together with Cain?

...asks Rebecca from Plymouth

Both Jeff Hordley [aka Cain] and I were shocked because we didn't see it coming. Our producer at the time, Gavin Blyth, said he saw this chemistry between us when Moira was working at the Woolpack. It was great vision on his part because he had decided that a year before they put us together, and he knew what he wanted to do with it. The bad boy and the farmer. It's quite a nice mix, isn't it?

Do you have banter with Zoe Henry [Rhona] about being her husband Jeff Hordley's screen wife?

...asks Tracy, via email

Both Zoe and Jeff are great friends of mine, so we always have a laugh. But Zoe and I share a dressing room, and we're normally just talking about our lives, not about Jeff. I always used to say that if I ever got married, I would base my marriage on theirs because it's such a great one. Zoe and Jeff have got the balance just right, and they are both so lovely.

I loved you as Andrea in The Bill. Did you ever get mistaken for a real-life police officer?

...ask Winston from London

No, I didn't, Winston – and I'll tell you why: you are never allowed to wear your uniform outside the studios, because you'd be done for impersonating a police officer! They were very strict on that rule when I worked on The Bill. If we had to film on location, it was okay since people who saw us could also see the cameras and know that it wasn't real.

IF YOU WERE NOT AN ACTOR, WHAT JOB WOULD YOU LIKE TO DO?

...asks Christina, via email

“I'd love to be a surgeon, it was my second choice of career. I'm still fascinated by it. When I had a hip operation, I asked if I could stay awake and watch it, but they wouldn't let me in case I passed out. Needles, blood and guts really don't faze me at all.”

Wedded miss: The marriage between Natalie's alter ego and Cain is in dire straits

Farm-iliar faces: The star would like to swap roles with Dales mainstay Andy

Cop out: Natalie had to stick to the rules as PC Andrea Dunbar

Where's the strangest place that you have ever been recognised?

...asks Pauline from Liverpool

I was in this clothes shop in Barcelona, having just arrived in the city, and got recognised immediately. The person in the shop, who was Spanish, had been watching Emmerdale! I think they'd been over to the UK at some point, but also there is a Sky channel in Spain that shows it. Sadly, I wasn't given an Emmerdale discount!

Do you still keep in touch with James Thornton, who played Moira's first husband, John?

...asks Jennifer from Crewe

I do, Jennifer. We meet up in London now and again, and we catch up on the phone. James texts me because he likes to keep tabs on Moira. He lets me know when he likes something I've done, and he's happy that John is still mentioned a lot in the show. James always thought that Cain and Moira were a good pairing. I don't feel like I miss him because James is the voiceover king, and I hear him on television all the time narrating documentaries. He's the voice of Sky TV!

If you won the lottery, what would you choose to do with your winnings?

...asks Nancy, via email

First off, Nancy, I'd buy my mum a house. Then I'd pay off my mortgage – and get all that sort of stuff done straight away. Next, I'd take all my mates on a brilliant holiday. I'm really into villa holidays at the moment, so I'd hire a villa that was right on the seafront somewhere that has sunshine. Last year, we went to Cyprus and stayed in a villa, and this year we're going to Madeira. It's going to be fantastic.

THE X FACTOR | ITV Saturday & Sunday

An all-star team has been assembled for the return of the singing contest...

Back on song

Pardon our frankness, but last year's series of The X Factor didn't quite work for us. It was, admittedly, partly for reasons beyond the show's control (ITV's coverage of the Rugby World Cup played havoc with the schedules), but also because of a judging panel that just didn't click. With that in mind, the show has gone back to tried-and-tested personalities this year, as Sharon Osbourne, Nicole Scherzinger and Louis Walsh all return to join Simon Cowell on the panel – and Dermot O'Leary is back on hosting duty, too.

"It felt a bit odd to start with," admits Dermot. "This time last year, I didn't think it would ever happen. I felt like I had drawn a line in the sand. Then I gave myself some time to think about it, and I realised I had missed the live shows, I missed the team, and I missed being in a show that's part of the national conversation and culture."

As the show's creator and head judge, Simon was feeling the pressure to get it right this time, especially after feedback last year from viewers who didn't like the changes that had been made.

"The good thing about having a Twitter account is that viewers tell you directly what they think," he reveals. "It's a bit like your mum and dad when they go, 'Simon, you have screwed up'. It wasn't anyone's fault, I just didn't realise how much the viewers missed everyone."

It's not only the on-screen talent that's changing either, as the format is getting a shake-up as well. The room auditions are back, after being dispensed with last year, so we'll get to see people performing in intimate environments once again.

"People walk in, they are vulnerable and they tell us their stories," shares Louis. "They are not afraid to say things that they wouldn't say in front of two thousand people, it's just us and them. I think we get the sense of what they are about."

The judges certainly seem optimistic about the quality of this year's talent – and they're already thinking about who they want to be mentoring for the live shows.

"There was a lovely girl in Manchester who had lost a lot of weight and looked like Every single judge on the panel has previously mentored at least one winning act, and they're all prepared to do whatever they can to repeat that success this year.

"I want to say that winning doesn't matter, but I'm the most competitive person you'll ever meet – so watch your back, Simon Cowell!" warns Nicole.

"I just want to make sure everything is at its very best, otherwise what are we doing here? We're always looking for greatness in people. I'm going to do everything that I can to help my contestants be great."

To play the Queen

Jenna Coleman stars as the young monarch in a drama about the early years of her reign...

For many of us, our image of Queen Victoria is of her later years: dour and dressed in mourning clothes. However, this new drama is setting out to change that by showing us Victoria as a young woman, inexperienced and suddenly in a position of great power and influence.

"I was surprised at how little I knew about her when I first started," reveals former Emmerdale and Doctor Who star Jenna Coleman, who plays the young Victoria in the series. "I've been saying that I've taken on this part, and a lot of people have said, 'You can't play Victoria, she's stern and old and wore black!'. I don't think people are quite aware of how vivid she was and what a lust for life she had, and considering the way she was brought up, and the role that she was born to step into, it didn't seem to squash any of that spirit in her. I find that fascinating."

The series begins with Victoria learning that she is to become Queen, following the death of her uncle, King William IV. She was just 18 years old at the time, and there was some doubt about her readiness for the position, but Victoria had a self-belief that took many people by surprise.

"I think her strength is in her purity," suggests Jenna. "She came to the throne with a real goodwill, and that's what she actually wrote: 'I may be young, I may be inexperienced, but I feel there is no one more fit and right to rule'. So in her youth, there is a kind of optimism without fear, but that also led to impulsive mistakes."

One of the early controversial decisions made by Victoria was rejecting the offer of counsel from her mother's friend Sir John Conroy, and instead seeking advice from the prime minister at the time, Lord Melbourne, played here by Rufus Sewell.

"I don't think people are quite aware of how vivid she was"

JENNA

"There were certainly rumours about them – she was known as 'Mrs Melbourne' at one point," reveals Rufus. "There was a lot of gossip because their relationship was very emotional, there were all sorts of different feelings mixed up because she was 18 and he was much older. But he was so intent on stewarding her through a very wild time in her life, and his responsibility towards her probably outweighed any other feelings that he might have had."

While the chance to play such an important historical figure was a fantastic opportunity, Jenna admits that she had a few reservations about taking on this role.

"I think when taking on something very iconic, and someone who really existed, you want to be sure that you can do it to the best of your ability," she muses. "But the more I read, the more it unfolded in front of me and it was impossible to turn down – I felt I'd be crazy! Funnily, when I left Doctor Who the first thing I said was, 'I just don't want to do a series for a while' – but this has been such an adventure. I've loved it!"

Close encounters

Sally Lindsay and Daniel Ryan are back on the cul-de-sac for a sixth series...

MOUNT PLEASANT | Sky1 Tuesday

Lisa and Dan Johnson have been through some tough times together, none more so than last year, when we watched the couple struggle with a new baby, bereavement, and the pressure of Lisa's new business. We're happy to report, however, that series six sees the pair in what looks like a much happier place... "We got to a point last year where even the crew were going, 'Will you two split up?'" recalls actor Daniel Ryan, who plays Dan. "So I think it was a purposeful decision to take it back to how they were – we're even back in the bath, which we haven't been for a while!" "I think we needed to go there, though, to bounce back again," adds Sally Lindsay, who stars as Lisa. "Dan and Lisa needed to go to rock bottom to find themselves again. They're in love, but not in a soppy way!" That's not to say their lives will be drama-free, though, as

Dan finds himself picking up the pieces when his father lets his mum down once again. Lisa, meanwhile, joins forces with neighbour Jenna after discovering a new nemesis in local tycoon Adam Wyatt. "I think she finds out that she's stronger than she realises," shares Sally. "She takes on Adam Wyatt because he's such a horror to her, and it turns into something bigger. It's about standing up to bullies and fighting for what's right."

Being frank

Benjamin O'Mahoney tells us about life as a new recruit at Leman Street...

RIPPER STREET | BBC2 Bank Holiday Monday

The three-year time jump between series three and four of Ripper Street has thrown up some changes at Leman Street police station, including new faces such as Desk Sergeant Samuel Drummond and Detective Sergeant Frank Thatcher. So Inside TV used all of our detective skills to get actor Benjamin O'Mahoney, who plays Thatcher, on the phone for a quick chat.

"Thatcher is a young-ish Cockney lad who grew up in the area," explains Benjamin. "Drummond, who's played by Matt Lewis, is very much like a young version of Reid, he's very cerebral, and Frank is more like a young Drake – he was described in the casting breakdown as 'like Drake's Rottweiler'! He's a bit of muscle who will do whatever he needs to get the job done, that's how he starts out."

One of the most striking things about Thatcher at first is his dapper sense of style, and Ben quite enjoyed adopting his character's look.

"Have you seen what I look like? My girlfriend had to put up with that for a year!" chuckles the actor. "I have a thick moustache and these mutton chops. And I'd also just moved to east London, so it kind of worked perfectly. I was surrounded by lots of hipsters – it looked like I was trying really hard to fit in!"

Justice delayed

DCI BANKS | ITV Wednesday
Stephen Tompkinson tells us why Banks is on the trail of an old foe...

DCI Banks is back on duty this week for the first of six new episodes of the crime drama, and there's something a bit different about this latest series. While it will follow the usual pattern of three two-part stories, there will be an ongoing thread that runs through the whole series and links the stories together.

"It was a suggestion that we all embraced," shares Stephen Tompkinson, who plays Banks. "You approach every new series like it might be your last, so we always try our best to make it as new as we can get it without shocking people too much! We just thought that it would be interesting to have something we could play with for six hours rather than three two-hour chunks."

One of the key figures that Banks is investigating this time around is local crime boss Steve Richards, played by Broadchurch's Shaun Dooley – and apparently he and Banks have got quite a lot of previous.

"This has gone on for decades, since Banks was a fresh-faced detective sergeant," explains Stephen. "Banks knew that Richards was behind a murder, they made their case against him, it was watertight, all the evidence was protected, but when it got to trial, the jury found him not guilty. The inference is that he nobbled the jury, but no one could ever prove it. Banks knows he should be behind bars, and he's determined to be the person who puts him there."

Wrongful acquittal: Shaun Dooley as Steve Richards

Office politics: Stephen with co-stars Andrea Lowe and Caroline Gatz

Away from the investigation, the romantic tension between Banks and his partner DS Annie Cabbot is still simmering away.

"I don't know what Banks would do if he ended up with Annie permanently," Stephen muses. "They're both so equally married to their jobs. Maybe when they're both retired – I think you'd have to get the job out of the way first!"

Ready, willing and able

GO FOR IT
ITV 7pm

There are people all across the nation who have unique and impressive skills, but a show like Britain's Got Talent, for instance, might not be the right showcase for them. So Go For It is hoping to bridge that gap, as Stephen Mulhern invites people to show us their unusual – and often bizarre – talents. And if they can successfully demonstrate it in the studio, they can have £1,000 for their trouble.

There's a diverse range of abilities in tonight's episode – for example, we have Dimitar Krika, who claims to be able to smash 10 watermelons on his head in 90 seconds (hopefully someone is waiting with some aspirin), and Sam Goodburn, whose challenge is to unicycle over 100 wine glasses without breaking them. Our question: how do you discover that you can do that?

THE GOOD TERRORIST
Channel 4 8pm

In July 1964, anti-apartheid activist John Harris – until then a peaceful protester – left a bomb on the whites-only platform of a Johannesburg station. He hoped it would strike a crucial blow for the anti-apartheid movement, but instead it killed a 77-year-old woman, injured many more, and led to Harris' execution. This documentary explores his story through home videos and testimonies from his family.

Change in store

ARE YOU BEING SERVED?

BBC1 9pm

Many eyes have been rolled over the BBC's decision to remake a selection of classic comedies, but the most important question is: did they do a good job?

Benidorm's Derren Litten has provided the script for this Are You Being Served? special, deftly capturing the innuendo and constant misunderstandings of the original, and there have been inspired casting decisions – particularly Sherrie Hewson as Mrs Slocombe, and Only Fools And Horses star John Challis as Captain Peacock.

This episode takes place in 1988, as Young Mr Grace is determined to modernise his Grace Brothers department store, but the staff seem very resistant to change. Stay tuned afterwards for a Porridge update, which stars comic Kevin Bishop as Fletcher's grandson.

ELLIE SIMMONDS: SWIMMING WITH DOLPHINS

ITV 7pm

In this film, Ellie visits the coast of Newquay to spot dolphins in the sea, but swimming with them isn't possible in the UK – so she heads for Mozambique instead.

THE COOPERS VS THE REST

BBC2 10pm

The BBC's sitcom season isn't just about remakes of old series – there are also some pilots for new sitcoms heading our way as well. In The Coopers Vs The Rest, Tanya Franks (better known to EastEnders fans as Rainie Cross) plays Tess, mother to three adopted kids with her husband Toby (Paterson Joseph). While things at home are frequently chaotic, Tess is determined to give her children the settled childhood she never had herself.

But that desire can manifest itself a little forcefully at times, as tonight Tess takes exception when she finds out that young Charlie wasn't invited to a classmate's birthday party – so she just takes him anyway.

Later this week, look out for two more BBC sitcom pilots – Home From Home on Tuesday, and Our Ex Wife on Thursday.

Off the rails

NEW YORK: AMERICA'S BUSIEST CITY
BBC2 9pm

Anita Rani, Ade Adepitan, Ant Anstead and Dan Snow have been granted special access to some of the iconic landmarks of The Big Apple for this new three-part series.

Tonight's opener is based in Grand Central Station, the largest railway terminal in the world, so the presenters take that as their cue to see what a New York commute is like: Ant catches the ferry from Staten Island, Anita gets the subway in from Brooklyn, and Ade takes the train from Connecticut.

Once they've all arrived, Dan investigates the building's history, which dates back to a time when it was grand but not so central, Ant goes underground for a glimpse of the future, and Anita looks at the eclectic world of the Lost & Found department.

Outside edge

GARDENING NIGHTMARES
ITV 8pm

In theory, your garden should be a haven of tranquillity where you can escape the stresses of life. But in this three-part series, people share stories of how their gardens became hell on earth. From the Bromley cul-de-sac residents who found themselves neighbours to a stinking pile of rubbish, to a caterpillar invasion in Newhaven that left the locals with skin irritations – it's enough to make you stay indoors!

THE GREAT BRITISH BAKE OFF

BBC1 8pm

Ladies and gentlemen, we have some slightly shocking news for you regarding this week's Bake Off: Sue isn't around, and Mel's hosting it by herself. Please don't be alarmed, as Mel assures us that Sue will be returning, so this isn't the result of an irreconcilable backstage fallout over the last piece of Battenberg or anything, and Mel's more than capable of keeping things ticking over in her comedy partner's absence.

After the excitement of cake week, we're sticking with the sweet stuff for now and moving on to biscuits, where the bakers will be tasked on their ability to produce a delicious and uniform tray of treats ready for Paul to dunk into his mug of tea. Meanwhile, Mary has lined them up a very taxing test for this week's technical challenge.

INGENIOUS ANIMALS

BBC1 8pm

Scientists are constantly learning about new aspects of animal behaviour, and this four-part series features wildlife experts explaining how certain species are getting smarter.

Giles Clark visits an elephant orphanage in Kenya to find out if elephants can feel empathy, and whether a group of young elephants can use it to help one of their peers learn to survive in the wild. Meanwhile, Lucy Cooke is in Toronto, learning how residents are being thwarted by a smart gang of urban raccoons, who keep finding ingenious ways to get into their bins.

Also, Patrick Aryee heads to Cambodia to find out how rats can be used to find landmines, and Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall learns that the manatee's small brain doesn't necessarily indicate a lack of intelligence.

ELLEN

Channel 4 10pm

Jaime Winstone and Jessica Barden star in this drama about a teenage girl. Ellen's having a tough time at home, but various new people coming into her life seem to bring possibly bright horizons: could her bond with new friend Kayla lead to good things? And what about Jason, who seems ready to stand up for her? Funny and bleak by turns, this single drama tells a very modern coming-of-age story.

JOHN BISHOP: IN CONVERSATION WITH... W 9pm

Comedian John Bishop turns interviewer in this new series as he sits down with celebs for an unscripted chat, trying to find out a little bit more about the person behind the public persona.

"In recent years I've been on a number of chat shows," explains John. "I've found that they're driven towards the funny anecdote – come on, plug what you've got, give us the anecdote and then we'll get the next guest on. For me, it felt like there was a gap where you could actually learn something about people, because everybody has a story."

Each episode of this show will focus on a single guest. Later in the series John will be speaking to Charlotte Church, Lenny Henry, Miriam Margolyes and Steve Coogan, but James Corden is first up tonight, talking about getting started in showbusiness and his recent success in America – and the whole chat is completely off the cuff.

"I know there's cameras there, but if you strip it away, it's only two people having a conversation," says John.

Blast from the past

GOODNIGHT SWEETHEART

BBC1 9pm

The news that this comedy about a time-travelling bigamist was one of the shows being revived as part of the sitcom season took us by surprise – we enjoyed it at the time, but it didn't seem as iconic as Are You Being Served? or Porridge.

Nonetheless, we can't deny we're intrigued to find out what Gary Sparrow's been up to in the meantime, especially since the original run ended with Gary unexpectedly trapped in 1945. It's now 1962, the year Gary was born – and the fates might just have aligned to allow him to get back to the present day again.

And at 9.30pm, the season continues with Young Hyacinth, starring Kerry Howard as an early version of the Keeping Up Appearances' social climber, living in a crowded cottage with her father and sisters.

Truth to power

WOULD I LIE TO YOU?

BBC1 8.30pm

The fib-based panel show is back for a new series tonight, with David Haye and Romesh Ranganathan joining David Mitchell's team, while Martin Kemp and Mel Giedroyc are aligned with Lee Mack. Tonight's possibly true statements involve a sporting feud between David Haye and his eight-year-old son, and a takeaway menu that Mel's parents may have used as a bedtime story.

ANDY ON THE RUN!

Andy's great escape from prison in Emmerdale had everyone at Inside Soap totally gripped from start to finish. Would he get away? Would Bernice go with him? And more to the point, will he be back?

Nooooooooo! I can't believe that Andy has gone from Emmerdale! I know there were rumours about actor Kelvin Fletcher leaving, but I really didn't think he actually would. I was so sad to see him go – the village won't be the same without him.

Justine, via email

I had everything crossed that Bernice and Andy would get a happy ending – they're my favourite couple in soap. When she declared her love for Andy and said that she was going on the run with him, I cheered – damn Bernice for finally remembering she has a daughter to look after!

Claudia, Kettering

As sad as I was to see Andy go, I was happy to see him and Robert finally make up before he fled the village. I'm really intrigued to see how Robert will get his revenge on Chrissie now – and hopefully Andy will be back if actor Kelvin Fletcher is only taking some paternity leave.

Jane, Portsmouth

But while most of you are on Andy's side, you're also big fans of Chrissie...

Louise Marwood [aka Chrissie in Emmerdale] is really taking the term 'super-bitch' to a whole new level! She's fast becoming a classic soap lady, and the recent exit of Andy because of her was amazing drama! Now that she's targeting Rakesh, I can't wait to see where the writers take her next.

Chris, via email

She'd better watch out for Robert...

Denise knew she had this hunk's Kushy number

KUSH IT!

Is anyone else totally rooting for Denise and Kush to get together in EastEnders? I understand why Denise has reservations, given that Kush's mum Carmel is her best friend, but she should really put her own happiness first for once. They'd make a great couple – so go for it, girl!

Amanda, via email

I love that Denise is the one giving Kush the runaround!

SCARED WITNESS

So we finally found out what Summer Bay's latest arrivals the Morgans' deep secret is – they are in witness protection. But surely the local police would have been informed, so they could keep an eye on things and the family as well? Isn't that vital information?

Sharon, Doncaster

I think Kat and co are a bit busy with the Barretts...

RANT! RAVE! We love to hear your opinions. Here's how to get in touch...

BY POST Inside Soap, 33 Broadwick Street, London W1F 0DQ

BY EMAIL Send your message to soapbox@insidesoap.co.uk

We're not the only ones pleased with Gemma's development

HIDDEN GEM

I always thought Corrie's Gemma had potential, even when all the trouble was going on with Callum. So I'm pleased that they are now developing her character rather than just dismissing her as a one-time baddy. Putting her with the likes of Rita and Norris was a masterstroke, and I'm looking forward to seeing what storylines she has coming up.

Sue, via email

I totally agree, Sue. Let's just hope she stays on the straight and narrow!

SNAKES ARE A PAIN

I really hope this stupid snake storyline in Neighbours is over soon! I know it's supposed to be dramatic and everything, but for those of us with a genuine phobia of snakes, it makes for very uncomfortable viewing.

Cindy, Chesterfield

There's only room for one snake in Erinsborough – and that's Paul Robinson!

JAMES IN A JAM

Could Hollyoaks' James have a secret soft side? The way he's been acting around John Paul

COLOUR-IN CORRIE

I heard on the grapevine that Corrie has brought out a colouring book. Where can I purchase one to colour in my favourite stars?

Ernest, via email

You heard right, Ernest! You can buy Coronation Street: The Official Colouring Book from Amazon and other stores for £10.

"Blouses, shorts AND dresses?"

PALM CAUGHT

When Amy saw Ste again in Hollyoaks this week, she was wearing a lovely flowery top in blue and brown. Do you know where I can get one?

Emma, via email

That blue-and-dark red palm leaf pattern is a signature fabric at H&M this season – and you'll find blouses, shorts and dresses in the same material in high street stores, or online at www.hm.com

TRUE BRIT?

If Mark Jnr in EastEnders was born and raised in the USA, where Michelle supposedly lives, how come he hasn't got an American accent?

Debby, via email

Before Mark even arrived, Sharon made a point of telling Phil that he'd gone to a British school, and had kept the accent to impress girls! Perhaps EastEnders bosses recalled the time Mark's sister Vicky returned with an American accent, which she soon dropped...

Mark's accent was London, but his hair was Elvis

SOAP bubble!

Winning £20 for her Hollyoaks caption this week is Finty, via email

WANT TO BAG YOURSELF 20 QUID?

this week makes me think that he genuinely cares for him. Is it too much to hope that the pair of them might get together properly now?

Laura, London

If only James hadn't ruined it all by telling JP about his bet with Joanne!

DINGLE DING-DONG

I am an avid fan of Emmerdale, but if they don't get Moira and Cain back together soon, they may lose a viewer! Charity has become predictably boring and is way past her sell-by date. I know you have to have bad guys to make storylines, but I think the public welcomes seeing a little more that is good about people. So please don't spoil a good thing.

Just go back to snogging, you two!

Pamela, via email

Babe knew that revenge was a dish best served cold

I agree that Cain and Moira belong together – but I love watching Charity's antics!

WALFORD'S WICKED

Does anyone else agree with me that EastEnders' Babe and Claudette are the most scary villains in soap right now? When they squared up against each other recently, I was terrified! If they did ever have a proper catfight, I'm not really sure which of them I would be backing to win.

Kay, via email

Turns out Abi could give them a run for their money!

SOAP shorts...

"I didn't think anyone could replace Lloyd in Corrie, but Tim and Steve make a great pairing," cheers James from Leicester... "EastEnders' Masood is so irresponsible, going out and leaving little Kamil home alone," scolds Ida from Hove... "I really can't take Duncan from Blue seriously in Hollyoaks," reckons Kara from London. "I keep expecting him to break out into song!" (Maybe it's time to do that musical episode of Hollyoaks!)

Poor Moira and Kerry. Both thought they had found a man who would stand by them, for better or worse, to the very end. # HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY - AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

Gemma looked good enough to eat. Her hideous tracksuit put us in mind of a half-unwrapped Ferrero Rocher. Corrie, you're really spoiling us.

In less than a week, Mark Jnr went from being EastEnders' best-kept secret and biggest reveal of the year, to forcing down a plate of Kathy's fish slop. Welcome to Walford!

After years of feuding, Robert confessed to Andy that he had "always loved him underneath". Blimey. Now that's a whole different story waiting to be explored...

Jane's reaction to Kathy and Buster's flirting spoke for the entire nation. Bleugh!

For the second time, Lady Di saved a life by alerting Linda to a deadly situation behind a closed door - first ailing baby Ollie and now frozen Babe. Give that dog a bone. Or her own series.

Hollyoaks has only gone and bagged Sue Ellen Ewing from Dallas! And after that bombshell, we need a little drink.

Eden Taylor-Draper's performance as troubled Belle is so fantastic that it's almost unbearable to watch. And the worst is still to come... Gulp!

BULLSEYE!

"You deserve to be treated right," insisted Aidan to Maria - which is a bit rich given that he'd just kicked her to the kerb following their one-night stand. However, we wholeheartedly agree with the sentiment. After years as Corrie's most wasted character, Maria is finally being treated right, with a decent plot that we're really excited about. Hooray!

We could cheerfully watch Steve, Leanne and Liz bickering about this baby until the end of time. Fantastic stuff, Corrie!

Emmerdale has enthusiastically adopted the Official Soap Hairstyle For Ladies Doing Wrong, with Chrissie and Charity's brunette bobs. We hear Charity's wig is on a timeshare deal with Corrie's Jenny.

It wasn't so long ago that Patrick pushed Claudette down a flight of stairs after learning that she'd murdered her husband. What a solid foundation for a relationship!
